GROUND RULES:

The baseball field is fully enclosed.

FENCE:

The field fence is 2 metres high so everything above it is secured by a net. If the ball hits the security net than it's dead.

DUGOUTS:

1st base dugout – there are two entrances; if the ball crosses inside the dugout it's considered dead; otherwise everything bounces of the wall or netting of the dugout it's live

3rd base dugout – there is no security netting; every ball bounces of the wall or poles of dugout it's live; if the ball crosses inside the dugout it's considered dead; if the ball hits the security netting above the dugout it's considered dead.

HOMERUN:

There is a security net behind the left field homerun fence and there is a scoreboard behind the right field homerun fence. Every ball which is hit over the two meters field fence is HOMERUN. So if the ball hits the security net it is homerun. If the ball hits the scoreboard it is homerun.
